Executive Summary

This document is provided as a community service for widest public dissemination. It is a consolidation of selected articles from referenced organizations and subject matter experts – defining and discussing the social and developmental challenges confronting children and teenagers in our community; as well as options and resources for preemptive and remedial actions. In electronic format, this document employs hyperlinks; facilitating access to related information – internal and external to this document.

The Problem:

- As a minor – a young person, have you ever said: “I am in jeopardy (or in harm’s way) and I do not know who to turn to for advice and help.”? Or,
- As a concerned person – of any age, have you ever said:
 - “I wonder if that young person is in jeopardy (or harm’s way) – how can I tell?”; or
 - “I know this young person that is in jeopardy (or harm’s way) and I do not know how to help or who to inform.”

The Purpose of the document is to help people in Camden County Georgia find the information needed to answer these questions – to help reestablish and maintain the wellbeing of the young person in question.

The Method that this document uses to satisfy the stated purpose is to present child and adolescent crisis-specific quick-guides; designed to help the reader understand basic information regarding the crisis scenario – including possible immediate actions and how to connect with first tier (immediate response and gateway) and second tier (supplemental response) resources.

The Appendix provides an alphabetical list of referral, counseling, and intervention resources; as well as related information, training opportunities, and seminar schedules.

Introduction

Children – also referred to as minors – pass through several stages on their road to becoming adults. For most people, there are four stages of growth where they learn and develop: infancy (birth to age 2), early childhood (ages 3 to 8 years), later childhood (ages 9 to 12) and adolescence (ages 13 to 18). In our society, with few exceptions, a legal adult is a person who has attained the age of majority (i.e. 18) and is therefore regarded as independent, self-sufficient, and responsible.

As you read this document and the cited references, you will notice differences in age-group definitions. In this document, a child is a person that is pre-pubescent and an adolescent is a person that has reached puberty through to the legal age of adulthood – 18. When the condition, factor or subject discussed is specific to a child or adolescent, the applicability is specified in the explanation. Otherwise, the group-terms child and adolescent are equally applicable for the subject being discussed.

For children, adolescents and their parents, age-appropriate development is a time of excitement and of anxiety; of happiness and of troubles; of discovery and of bewilderment; and of breaks with the past and links with the future. It is a confusing time – for the child and adolescent experiencing these phases of life; for the parents who are nurturing their child during his or her progression through these stages; for other adults charged with enhancing the development of youth during this period of life, and – with disturbing, historically unprecedented frequency – for adolescents who themselves find themselves in the role of parents.

The key function of a child's family is to raise the young person in as healthy a manner as possible. The parents' role is to provide the child with a safe, secure, nurturing, loving, and supportive environment – one that allows the offspring to have a happy and healthy youth. This sort of experience allows the youth to develop the knowledge, values, attitudes, and behaviors necessary to become an adult making a productive contribution to self, family, community, and society. What a parent does to fulfill these "duties" of his or her role is termed parenting; in other words, parenting is a term that summarizes behaviors used by a person – usually, but, of course, not exclusively, the mother or father – to raise a child.

Unfortunately, not all of our youth live in a stable, nurturing family environment. Also, some well-meaning parents and families are not up to the task – the confrontation – the crisis – presented by their young family member. These variations influence both the way parents interact with youth and, in turn, the behavior of children and adolescents.

With the receipt of comments and constructive criticism from our community, this document will be further developed and refined; continuing with the objective to fill the information gap regarding crisis avoidance and intervention from the perspective of the child and adolescent; as well as the parents and adults charged with enhancing the development of youth in Camden County, Georgia.

Maltreatment (Abuse and Neglect) – Crisis Intervention and Counseling Quick-Guide

Definition

Maltreatment is any act of commission or omission by a parent or a caregiver (e.g. clergy, coach, or teacher) that results in harm, potential for harm or threat of harm to a child.

- Child abuse is an act of commission that deliberately inflicts harm, whether physical or emotional, that results in a child or adolescent experiencing pain, fear, emotional anguish, and distrust. Examples include physical abuse, sexual abuse and psychological abuse.
- Child neglect is an act of omission by failing to provide for a child's basic physical, emotional or educational needs. Examples include providing adequate food, clothing, hygiene, medical care, safety and supervision.

Warning Signs

Signs and symptoms of child abuse and neglect vary from child to child. Children have different ways of coping so signs depend on each child's characteristics and environment. Some signs of possible physical abuse may be easy to spot but instances of emotional or sexual abuse may not be immediately evident. Typical indicators of abuse are unexplained injuries, withdrawal, absence from school and unexplained fear or panic.

Responsive Actions – if you are being abused or neglected:

- If there is immediate physical danger or a weapon is involved, call 9-1-1 – law enforcement; otherwise,
- If you are injured, go to the Emergency Room at the Southeast Georgia Health System, Camden Campus, 2000 Dan Proctor Dr., St. Marys, Ga.; and/or
- Contact a trusted adult who can help. This includes a relative, a teacher, a coach, or a church leader; and/or
- Contact the Camden County Department of Family and Children Services (DFCS):
 - During a weekday from 9-5, call (912) 262-3260

Maltreatment (Bullying) – Crisis Intervention and Counseling Quick-Guide

Definition

Bullying is unwanted aggressive behavior that involves a real or perceived power imbalance in which the victims find it difficult to defend themselves. Bullying can be physical, verbal, or emotional and can occur anywhere, at home, at school or school events, online (cyberbullying) or in a teen dating situation. Bullying acts include making threats, spreading rumors, excluding someone from a group, stalking, ridiculing, or attempting to control the actions or activities of a person in a deliberate hurtful manner.

Warning Signs

Not all children exhibit warning signs, but those who do usually show an abrupt change in behavior. They may have unexplained injuries, lost or destroyed belongings, faked illness, declining school grades, reluctance to go to school or sports programs or engage in self-destructive acts. The speed with which social media can reach a mass audience quickly can result in extremely humiliating messages and visual images. The impact on a child or adolescent being cyberbullied can be immediate and overwhelming, possibly leading to self-abuse or suicidal thoughts or actions. The impact that public embarrassment among peers can place on a young person can be overwhelming.

Responsive Actions – If you are being bullied:

- If there is immediate physical danger or a weapon is involved, call 9-1-1 – law enforcement; otherwise,
- Talk with your parents, a trusted relative, teacher, coach or church leader; and/or
- If you are in an emotional distress or suicidal crisis, contact the National Suicide Prevention Lifeline at (800) 273-8255 and speak with a professional counselor; and/or
- TEXT “CTL” TO 741741 – The Crisis Text Line (CTL) for free, 24/7, emotional support and information from a trained specialist; and/or
- Call Georgia's school safety hotline at 877-SAY-STOP (877-729-7867); and/or
- Specific to cyberbullying, check smartphones and computers for information identifying the bully. Do not respond. If the messages suggest violence, call 9-1-1 – law enforcement; and

Self-directed Violence (SDV) – Crisis Intervention and Counseling Quick-Guide

Definition

Self-directed violence (SDV) is behavior that deliberately results in injury or the potential for injury to oneself and can result in death. Self-directed violence is categorized into the following:

- Suicidal self-directed violence: Behavior that deliberately results in injury or the potential for injury to oneself. There is evidence, whether implicit or explicit, of suicidal intent.
- Non-suicidal self-directed violence – aka Non-suicidal self-injury (NSSI): Behavior that is self-directed and deliberately results in injury or the potential for injury to oneself. There is no evidence, whether implicit or explicit, of suicidal intent.

Note: NSSI does not include behaviors such as parachuting, gambling, substance abuse, tobacco use or other risk taking activities, such as excessive speeding in motor vehicles. These are complex behaviors some of which are risk factors for SDV but are defined as behavior that while likely to be life-threatening is not recognized by the individual as behavior intended to destroy or injure the self.

Warning Signs of Suicidal Behavior

- A person in acute risk for suicidal behavior may:
 - Threaten to hurt or kill him or herself, or talk about hurting or killing self; and/or
 - Look for ways to kill him/herself by seeking access to firearms, available pills, or other means; and/or,
 - Talk or write excessively about death, dying or suicide.
- Additional Warning Signs include:
 - Increased substance (alcohol or drug) use; and/or
 - Anxiety, agitation, unable to sleep or sleeping all the time; and/or
 - Withdrawal from friends, family and society

Warning Signs of Non-suicidal Self-injury (NSSI) Behavior

- A variety of circumstances or stress can put young people at an increased risk of self-harm. The loss of a loved one, family conflicts, abuse, bullying, or simply feeling overwhelmed by life can cause them to engage in self-injury. Warning signs include:
 - Negative attitudes toward their health or body including eating behaviors such as fasting for binging or abusing alcohol or drugs
 - Mood swings that include depression or schizophrenic behavior
 - Wearing clothing designed to cover or hide self-inflicted cuts, burns, bruises

Responsive Actions – Suicidal Behavior

- If you are experiencing self-directed violence with the intent to die:
 - If there is a weapon involved, Call 9-1-1 – law enforcement; and/or
 - Talk with a trusted adult – a relative, teacher, coach or church leader who can help you obtain help; and/or
 - Go to the Emergency Room at the Southeast Georgia Health System, Camden Campus, 2000 Dan Proctor Dr., St. Marys, Ga.; and/or
 - Contact and talk/text confidentially with a professional counselor trained to listen to your specific concerns and offer assistance. For example:

 - Members of military families may also call the local Fleet and Family Support Center at (912) 573-4512 or (912) 573-4222.
- If you suspect a person is suicidal:
 - Don't be afraid to ask someone if they are having suicidal thoughts. It could save a life.
 - Help the suicidal person with the actions listed above and/or make the applicable reports/notifications on behalf of the suicidal person; and
 - Without putting yourself in jeopardy, stay with the suicidal person until family or professional assistance is present and engaged; and
 - If you are the youth's parent or legal guardian, seek professional help and counseling from an appropriate service provider. Examples of local service providers are listed below in “Note: 1) Additional Services”.

Responsive Actions – Non-suicidal Self-injury:

- If you are intentionally hurting yourself, ask for help to stop.
 - Talk to your parents, family members, guardian, Clergy, and/or other adults that you trust; and/or

Violent and Risky Sexual Behaviors – Crisis Intervention and Counseling Quick-Guide

Definition

- Sexual violence \(aka sexual assault\) is any unwanted sexual attention, contact, or activity that violates a person's trust, autonomy, and feeling of safety. Violent sexual behavior includes rape, attempted rape, incest, molestation, unwanted fondling, pornography or any action against a child or adolescent that harms them in any sexual manner.
- Risky sexual behavior is commonly defined as behavior that increases one's risk of contracting sexually transmitted infections and experiencing unintended pregnancies. They include having sex at an early age, having multiple sexual partners, having sex while under the influence of alcohol or drugs, and unprotected sex.

Preemptive Actions – Risky Sexual Behavior

- Before A Child Becomes Sexually Active: Sexual activity is occurring at younger years than ever and it is difficult for parents and other caregivers to recognize signs. It may be necessary for parents to begin sex education at a very early age to help children understand the consequences of risky sexual behavior. While sex education is offered in public schools, parents should not assume it is sufficient to create necessary guidelines or standards. Parental guidance and role modeling is necessary at an early age.
- Before you become sexually active, become informed regarding contraception, Sexually Transmitted Disease (STD), pregnancy, and teen parenting.

Responsive Actions – Sexual Assault

- If you have been sexually assaulted:
 - Go to a safe location away from the perpetrator.
 - Preserve all evidence of the assault.
 - Do not bathe, wash your hands, brush your teeth, eat, or smoke.
 - If you are still at the location of the crime, do not clean or straighten up or remove anything from your surroundings.

- Write down or audio record all the details you can recall about the attack and the attacker.
- Reach out for help – call 9-1-1 (Law Enforcement); and/or
- Go to the Emergency Room at the Southeast Georgia Health System, Camden Campus, 2000 Dan Proctor Dr., St. Marys, Ga.; and/or
- Contact the Connie Smith Rape Crisis Center in Brunswick at (912) 427-6379; and/or
- Members of military families may also call the Kings Bay Fleet and Family Support Center at (912) 573-4512 or (912) 573-4222; and
- If you know or suspect someone who has been sexually assaulted:
 - Help the victim with the actions listed above; and
 - Support the victim – be there and listen.
 - Avoid being judgmental, keep from second-guessing and resist placing any blame on the victim.
 - Be patient. Remember, it will take the victim some time to deal with the crime.
 - Other than safety and health-related questions, try to refrain from asking for details about the incident. Show interest in what the victim says and ask what you can do to help the victim.

Responsive Actions – Risky Sexual Behavior

- If you think you may have contracted a STD or may be pregnant: Talk to an adult that you trust, see your family physician, and/or contact a medical facility to be tested and receive counsel and other assistance. For example:
 - St Marys Clinic, 905 Dilworth Street, (912) 882-8515; or
 - Woodbine Clinic, 1501 Georgia Avenue, (912) 576-3040; or
 - CareNet Pregnancy Center, 203 Lakeshore Point, Suite 203, St. Marys, GA 31558, 912.729.8842, or 877-791-5475 (24/7).
 - Live Online Chat: PregnancyDecisionLine.org
- If you suspect a child or adolescent may have contracted a STD: e.g. If the young person complains of unexplained genital itching, pain or discomfort –
 - Take the youth to your family physician or one of the medical facilities listed above in the “Responsive Actions- Risky Sexual Behavior”.
 - If you are a Navy or Marine Corps family, you can also contact the Fleet and Family Services Center at Members of military families may also call the local Fleet and Family Support Center at (912) 573-4512 or (912) 573-4222 for referral.
- If you suspect an unmarried adolescent is pregnant – e.g. If she shows signs of pregnancy, like gaining weight, unusual anxiety, refusal to attend school, or other changes in behavior –
 - If under 16, schedule an appointment with a family physician or a contact a medical facility. For example:

Substance Abuse – Crisis Intervention and Counseling Quick-Guide

Definition

Substance abuse is the harmful pattern of children and teens using substances to the degree of impairment, distress, and causing danger to self and others. These substances include: tobacco, alcohol, illicit drugs and prescription drugs. Statistics suggest that alcohol and misuse of prescription drugs are on the rise among children and adolescents and that the use of illicit drugs is more widespread than most parents realize.

Warning Signs

Many youth may show symptoms and behaviors that indicate use of a prohibited substance without alarming parents or other adults. However, if there are several signs happening at the same time or if they occur suddenly or are extreme, it is suggestive of dangerous substance abuse and should be addressed to protect the youth from serious harm. Signs include:

- Apparent slurring of speech, incoherent ramblings, lack of self-control, memory lapses
- Pilfering money or stealing things to purchase alcohol or drugs
- Finding substances in youth's room or personal belongings
- New problems in school (poor attendance, lower grades, disciplinary action)
- Changing friends and a reluctance to have family meet new friends
- Making threats to harm self or others, quit school, run away from home

Responsive Actions – Substance Abuse

- If you – a child or adolescent – are using alcohol or abusing drugs:
 - Talk with your parents, an older sibling or adult relative. Ask for help to stop the substance abuse. Ask them to discuss with you the applicable material in this document – to help you understand and receive the assistance necessary to correct the problem.
 - Talk with a school counselor or coach, your family physician, or
 - Call the Georgia Crisis Hotline at (800) 715-4225 or TEXT “CTL” TO 741741 for a confidential conversation.

- If you suspect a child or adolescent is experiencing substance abuse, be proactive:
 - If a child or adolescent is in your home, secure alcohol and prescription drugs from unauthorized access and use. Learn all you can about the effects and dangers of substance abuse among children and teens. Talk to your child or adolescent.
 - If you believe the abuse is occurring on school property or at a school event, talk with the school counselor, coach or principal.
 - If you recognize and witness adults giving or selling alcohol or drugs to underage youth, call 9-1-1 to report the illegal activity.
 - If you believe your child is a victim of substance abuse, seek help from your family physician or professional counselor.
 - If you are a Navy or Marine Corps family, you can also contact the Fleet and Family Services Center at (912) 573-4512 or (912) 573-4222 for counseling and/or referral.

Youth Villages Inner Harbour Campus

4685 Dorsett Shoals Road
Douglasville, GA 30135
phone: 770-852-6300
toll-free: 800-255-8657
fax: 770-852-6301

The campus provides general psychiatric treatment for males and females ages 5-21. We specialize in treating children and adolescents with significant psychiatric illness and impairment in behavioral, cognitive, emotional, familial, and/or social functioning. A high staff-to-child ratio allows for counselors to pay one-on-one attention to each child and provide individual therapy. The goal of treatment is to have children learn new, more positive behavior patterns that will allow them to do well in the community. The ultimate goal is to allow children to return to their families as quickly as possible, whenever possible. The goal of DBT at Inner Harbour is to teach our youth more effective ways to regulate their emotions, deal with distressing situations in their lives, and to improve relationships with the people around them.

Specific treatment programs:

- Children's Program (up to age 12)
- General Psychiatric Program (ages 13-21)
- Brain Based Services
- Neurofeedback Therapy
- Excel Continuum (DJJ-committed youth)

Special programs are offered for boys and girls who have:

- Low IQ (50 and above)
- Problem sexual behaviors (males ages 12-17)
- Co-occurring medical conditions
- Suicidal and self-harming behaviors
- Aggressive behaviors that are the result of severe emotional problems
- Chronic runaway behaviors with high risk of harm to self or others
- Psychotic symptoms and behaviors
- Significant developmental challenges
- Neurodevelopmental disorders including autism, pervasive developmental disorder NOS, Asperger's, learning disabilities and organic brain syndrome

Admissions approval requires both clinical and financial clearance. Inner Harbour accepts Private Pay and Insurance. Clinical approval requires one or more of the following conditions:

- Evidence of a DSM-IV-R diagnosable mental disorder.
- Child or adolescent exhibits behaviors that is dangerous to self or others.
- There is a history of failed or insufficient inpatient or outpatient treatment efforts or inaccessibility of outpatient treatment.
